- 2. Name the three levels of government in India.
- 3. Why do we have three levels of government in our country? Would it not be easier to have just the Central Government?

CLASS TEST

1. Why is 26th January celebrated as Republic Day in India?

Ans. 26 January 1950 was the day India's Constitution came into effect, and the country became a republic. The day- 26 January- was chosen for a particular reason, as it marked a key event in the struggle for India's freedom from British rule.

2. Name the three levels of government in India.

Ans. The three levels of government in India are:-

- The Central or Union Government
- The State Government
- The Local Government

3. Why do we have three levels of government in our country? Would it not be easier to have just the Central Government?

Ans. We have three levels of government in our country because India is a big nation. It is not possible for a single government to look after the entire country properly. So, Constitution has divide the responsibilities between the Central, State and local level.
