Introduction

Q: What do you mean by Communication Cycle?

 A communication cycle refers to the process by which a message is developed and sent to the recipient through a selected channel and after interpreting and understanding the message receiver give feedback to sender.

Types of Feedback

1. POSITIVE FEEDBACK

Examples:

- A. I noticed you finished the work perfectly. Great job!
- B. I really appreciate you taking that call. Can you please also share the details?

2. NEGATIVE FEEDBACK

Examples:

- A. You keep forgetting to smile at the hotel guests when you talk to them.I really appreciate you taking that call. Can you please also share the details?
- B. You take really long to reply to e-mails! Are you always so busy?

3. NO FEEDBACK

Examples:

A. It is also a feedback in itself which indicates disagreement of ideas.

Feedback

- Feedback, if shared properly, can help reinforce existing strengths and can increase the recipient's abilities to rectify errors. It can have a long-term effect in managing and achieving goals.
- A good feedback is one that is:
- 1. Specific: Avoid general comments. Try to include examples to clarify your statement. Offering alternatives rather than just giving advice allows the receiver to decide what to do with your feedback.
- 2. Timely: Being prompt is the key, since feedback loses its impact if delayed for too long.
- 3. Polite: While it is important to share feedback, the recipient should not feel offended by the language of the feedback.
- 4. Offering continuing support: Feedback sharing should be a continuous process. After offering feedback, let recipients know you are available for support.

Importance of Feedback

- It validates effective listening: The person providing the feedback knows they have been understood (or received) and that their feedback provides some value.
- It motivates: Feedback can motivate people to build better work relationships and continue the good work that is being appreciated.
- It is always there: Every time we speak to a person, we communicate feedback so it is impossible not to provide one.
- It boosts learning: Feedback is important to remain focused on goals, plan better and develop improved products and services.
- It improves performance: Feedback can help to form better decisions to improve and increase performance.
