CHANGING YOUR TOMORROW

Read the sentences carefully and state whether they are correct or incorrect. If incorrect make it correct.

1. An exclamation mark is used to express strong feelings.
2. Capital letters are used in the beginning of a sentence and not for proper nouns.
3. The full stop is used to add pauses, and help in list things clearly.
4. Commas separate ideas, add pauses, and help in list things clearly.
5. Wow such a pretty dress.

LET'S RECAPITULATE

Capital letters are used in the beginning of a sentence and to signal proper names

A question mark (?) is used to ask question.

An exclamation mark (!) is used to express strong feelings.

The full stop is used for several purposes, most often to mark the end of a declarative sentence.

- ❖ A comma (,) is a punctuation mark that is frequently used in sentences.
- ❖ Commas separate ideas, add pauses, and help in list things clearly.

Example

- The pet store has cats, dogs, hamsters, fish, and turtles.
- I really wanted cereal this morning, but I didn't have any milk.
- Well, if you really want pancakes, I guess I can make them.

3. Add commas (,) where required to the sentences given below.

- a) Ritu, Richa and Sukanya went to watch a film yesterday.
- b) He has a blue, a green and a red handkerchief.
- c) I want a cycle, a helmet and a pair of shoes for my birthday.
- d) Babloo has travelled to Delhi, Mumbai and Bangalore with his uncle.
- e) We need flour, butter, sugar and eggs to bake a cake.
- f) Arabhi used roses, lilies and carnations in the bouquet.
- g) The sandwich was made of carrots, cucumber, tomatoes and lettuce.
- h) We learn English, Maths, EVS, Hindi and Social Studies in school.

4. Add punctuation to this paragraph.

Ananya is one of the untidiest person I know she always wears t-shirts and jeans her jeans are usually dirty and some times also have holes in them her hair is always tied up in a ponytail and she is often seen scratching her head she usually sits at the back of the class and often falls asleep in the middle of the class but when the exam results are declared she always gets an 'A' grade she might be untidy and lazy but she is very intelligent.

4. Add punctuation to this paragraph.

Ananya is one of the untidiest person. I know, she always wears t-shirts and jeans. Her jeans are usually dirty and some times also have holes in them. Her hair is always tied up in a ponytail and she is often seen scratching her head. She usually sits at the back of the class and often falls asleep in the middle of the class, but when the exam results are declared she always gets an 'A' grade. She might be untidy and lazy, but she is very intelligent.
