“T’was a dry,deserted desert and a trackless land to tread,
He wished that he was home again and tucked up tight in bed.
His little legs were wobbly,his strength was nearly spent,
And so he turned around again and here’s the way he went-
Back away from desert lands feet and feet across,
Back along the bracken bridge bending in the moss,
Through the fearful forest grass shutting out the sky,
Up a mighty mountain range seven inches high,
Down a gloomy gully,where he loathed to be alone,
Up and down a fern frond and round and round the stone,
A dreary ant, a weary ant , resolved no more to roam,
He staggered up the garden path and popped back home.
