My Magic Wand

Vocabulary Junction:

Read the lines:

1. Rama says that she loves paintings.
2. Rama tells Sam that she loves paintings.

The verb say and tell have the same meaning, but they are used in different situations.

The first sentence is about something Rama says , we do not know the listener. It is just something she said.

In the second sentence, Rama told Sam about something. So here we know who is the listener.

'Said' can also be used when the listener is mentioned. But in that case we must use 'said to'.

For example: Sid said to me that his parents are going to Shimla.
