

Chapter- 9

The Snake Trying

STUDY NOTES

- Snakes are one of the many beautiful creations of nature. This poet has written about how a snake is trying to escape the onslaught of a pursuing stick.
- It tries to slip off, and looks so beautiful while giving a curvaceous shape to its slender and thin body.
- The snake tries to glide through the water to get away. The poet hopes that it is able to make a safe escape.
- He pleads through his poem to let the snake free because it is a timid green water snake that is absolutely harmless. It does not even harm little children.
- He was noticed while lounging on the sands, and now, it escapes to the green reeds that would act as a disguise and save it.
