

Chapter- 1

Landforms of the world

WORKSHEET

Fill in the blanks:

- Mountains usually occur in a long rows called mountain ranges.
- Mount Everest is located in the Himalayas in Nepal.
- The lowland between Hills or mountains is called a valley.
- The Tibetan plateau is known as the 'roof of the world'.

Name these:

- The largest desert in the world Sahara.
- The longest river in the world. the highest begin the world Nile.
- The tip of a Peninsula is called cape.
- A perennial river starts in the mountains.

Multiple Choice Questions:

- Water body surrounded on three sides by land
  - Bay ✓
  - Pass
  - Valley
  - Peak
- A flat land with gentle slopes
  - Plateau
  - Pass
  - Plains ✓
  - Coast
- The longest river in the world
  - Nile ✓
  - Ganga
  - Yamuna
  - Brahmaputra
- The Strait that lies between India and Sri Lanka
  - Palk Strait ✓
  - Cook Strait
  - Sunda Strait
  - Bali Strait

Answer the following questions:

- Define coast. A place where sea meet the land is called coast.
- Define Peninsula
- What do you mean by Perennial rivers?
- What do you mean by tributaries?

- ② A land mass projects into the sea and is surrounded by water on three sides is called peninsula.
- ③ Perennial rivers start in the mountains from melting snow in glaciers and have water through out the year.

- ④ The smaller rivers joins the main river is called tributaries of the main river.