ch-1 The Constitution and the Need for Laws

The Constitutional laws are:-

- (i) Dowry Prohibition Act 1961
 - (ii) Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes Act 1989
 - (iii) Employment of Manual Scavengers and Construction of Dry Latrines (Prohibition) Act, 1993
 - (iv) The Bonded Labour System (Abolition) Act, 1976
 - (v) Protection of Human Rights Act 1993 (to restore the dignity of human beings)
 - (vi) Disabilities Act 1995
 - (vii) Mizoram Liquor Total Prohibition Act, 1995
- Many such acts have been passed to ensure that the ill treatment of the less privileged does not continue.
