

Home Assignment

Define the term.

Mid-Term election

A midterm election refers to a type of election where the people can elect their representatives and other subnational office holders.

General Election

In general election people can elect their representatives.

Fill in the blanks

Election.

are the process by which the citizens of a democracy choose their representatives.