

Kalpana Chawla was an Indian-American astronaut.

She had born on 17 March 1962 at Karnal in Punjab India.

She completed Aeronautical Engineering in 1976 from Punjab Engineering College.

She also had pursued a Ph.D. in Aerospace Engineering from the University of Colorado in 1988.

She joined NASA in 1988.

It was 19 November 1997 when she started her first space mission.

She got her second space mission in the year 2001.

It was 1 February 2003 when she died when she was on a space mission.

NASA has developed a supercomputer in memory of the great Kalpana Chawla.

She has become a pride of not only America but also India.

Teacher's Signature .....

