

Desiree

Desiree was found at the toddling age near the stone pillars in front of the Valmondés place and was adopted by them. She grew up to be the most iconic girl of that place. Armand Aubigny saw her at the age of 18, fell in love and married her and they had a baby but that baby turned her happy and peaceful life upside down. She was accused of being of black origin, rejected by her husband after giving birth to a baby. His mean attitude towards her heartbroken her and she took the baby, went to the bayou and never returned.
