Dear Diary,

Today I had the bitterest experience of my life. I never had such a ~~awful~~ ^{awful} experience. I went to Aggra for an urgent work. Some buses were running because most of them went for Election Duty. I waited at bus stop for nearly two hours, a bus came which was totally crowded. There was only pushing and pulling in the bus. Luggage was falling over people. Bus was even more than its capacity. There were brawls and fightings inside the bus, which was fortunately kept under control by some elderly passengers. I somehow ~~managed~~ ^{managed} to get some space for myself. Even breathing was difficult in there. Everyone was sweating. The journey was of two hours, when I finally got some sigh of relief. It was an unforgettable journey.

Naresh.

Dear Diary,

My joy knows no bounds today. My father gifted me a laptop on my birthday today, the thing I wanted for a long time. Now I would be able to browse the necessary info I want to know. I can't thank him enough for this gift. He has never deprived us of anything in life. Now, I can communicate and chat with my friends through email. I can play games too in my leisure time. Although it's a small thing, it has the entire world in it. I hope I will be able to use it properly. Internet is its main feature which can make us Global. Hence, it has a great relevance in today's world.

Neha.
