

Difference between political & permanent executives

Political Executive

Permanent Executive

→ Executives who are elected by the people for a specific period are called political executives.

The permanent executives are salaried with civil servants who are appointed on a long term.

→ Example - political leaders like - the prime minister, council of ministers.

Examples: IAS, IPS & IFS

Persons working in civil services

→ They remain in office only so long as they command the confidence of the majority members of the parliament.

They remain in office ^{even} when the ruling party changes. Their tenure of the office is fixed.
