

ASSIGNMENT

1.) Political party is a group that contests elections and hold power in the govt. They have a consensus on certain policies and programmes that are good for the society. They try to win elections by gaining popular support. The three components of a political party are :

(a) Leaders : They are usually the experienced members who decide various steps to be taken by the party for its progress.

(b) Active members : They become a part of the party because they support its policies and ideologies. They work for winning popular support, during elections.

(c) Followers : They are not the workers of the party but they believe in its

Date _____
Page _____

policies and ideologies and vote for them