Dear ~~A~~ Diary, Today was my worst nightmare. As you know, I had prepared really<sup>well</sup> for english test. I<sup>was</sup> very relaxed that ~~my test~~ I will score good in the test but when I reached at school I came to know that it was social science test today. It was like a huge boulder had fell on me. I was so confused that how ~~I~~ am I going to appear the test? Then, I calmed myself down, in the last 15 minutes I tried to read as many important points from ~~by~~ my friends books and appeared the test. The questions were not too difficult still I ~~hope don't~~ think I could ~~at~~ have done a lot better if I had known about the test before.
