

Q What is the difference between INPUT and OUTPUT devices.

INPUT

OUTPUT

* Accepts data given by the user.

* The data and instructions which we enter using a keyboard or a mouse into a computer is called input.

* Gives the desired results.

* The meaningful that we get after processing is known as output.

Input

Example

Take some water,
tea leaves, milk
and sugar

output

Example

Tea is ready.