

Bio - HW

Blood - the circulatory system

1. Lymph is a clear to pale white fluid which circulate the lymphatic system the main role of lymphatic system is to act as a fighter against microbes, organic waste and other debris.

2. Blood

* Blood is a circulatory fluid of the animal body, it helps in the transportation of oxygen, nutrients and metabolic wastes to different parts of the body.

Composed of RBC's and WBC's, plasma, hemoglobin, etc.

* Red in colour

Lymph

Lymph is another type of circulatory fluid of the animal body, it flows through the lymphatic system which consists of lymph nodes, lymph vessels.

* Composed of Lymph plasma, Lymph. etc.

* Pale white fluid