

The tree of a nation is one of the images of pride necessary for the country's personality. The tree should hold colossal social importance that echoes through the nation's mind to be considered accordingly. Being local to that nation adds to the tree's special status to be considered a public image. The public tree is an instrument of projecting certain philosophical or profound qualities, which live at the centre of the nation's legacy. The tree is regularly image of the legendary 'Kalpa Vrisha' or the 'Tree of Wish Fulfillment' connected as with life span and has significant therapeutic properties. The actual size of the banyan tree makes it an environment for an enormous no. of animals.
