

concept developed.
the pores to keep.

The main function of stomata is to open and close the pores in the leaf to allow for the exchange of gases. Based on the shape of the guard cells, they can give out oxygen and take in carbon dioxide. The main function of the stomata is to allow for the exchange of gases. Based on the shape of the guard cells, they can give out oxygen and take in carbon dioxide.

a green leaf.

This shows that stomata are present in water lilies.