Q17 Do you think the classification of economic activities into primary, secondary and tertiary is useful?

Ans) Yes, the classification of economic activities into primary, tertiary and secondary is useful on account of the information it provides on how and where the people of a country are employed.

Q27 Make a long list of all kinds of work that you find adults around you doing for a living. In what way can you classify them?

Ans) Around me, I find - teachers teaching, doctor checking its patients, Engineer, shopkeeper, domestic workers, ~~teacher~~ etc. vendors, farmer etc.

We can classify them into the following ways:-

- Primary sector = farmer, vendors etc.
- Tertiary sector = Engineer, doctor, teacher etc.
- ~~Secondary~~ Unorganised Sector: shopkeeper, electrician, domestic worker etc.
