

- Autumn Season

Autumn is the season after summer and before winter during which temperatures gradually decrease. It is composed of September and October. It begins with the autumnal equinox and ends with the ~~winter~~ winter solstice in December. Autumn is a time for harvesting most crops. This season is the best season for eating fruits, so this season is highly important for the farmers. This is really beautiful season, nature becomes so much relaxing.