It was just before the Second War of World. We were the only family in our New York that didn't own a car. Our daily shopping trips were made in a disreputable, two wheeled basket cart, drawn by an ancient Shetland pony that my mother had named Barkis after the character in David Copperfield. Bony Barkis was an eyesore. Every clomp of his splayed hooves sounded our poverty. For poor we were. My father's salary as clerk would've
