

Hw
22/07/21

A river is a natural water body which flows freely on the land towards another large water body. A river gets more water from other water sources like rain, pond etc. Most of the rivers originates from mountains like Himalaya etc. Some rivers change their course and some meet to form a river. The place closest to the source of river origination is known as Upper Course. Ganga is a holy river which is clean where it originated but gets dirty on the