Paragraph on Diwali

Diwali - when we all hear this word the one thing which comes to our mind is it is a festival of light. For thousand of years, Hindus around the world celebrate this joyful festival. Diwali signifies the victory of light over darkness, the victory of Dharma over Adharma. However, there are many reason why we celebrate Diwali. In Northern region of India, Diwali is associated with Lord Ram, the seventh incarnation of Vishnu, in the South this festival marks the victory of Krishna, the eighth incarnation of Vishnu. In northern side, it is celebrated for arrival of Lord Ram, Lord Lakshman and mata Sita to Ayodhya from their 14 year long exile. In southern it is celebrated to mark the victory of Lord Krishna over the demon Narakasura. Except Hindu, other regions like Buddhism, Jainism and Saikhism use Diwali to mark important events in their history too.

Nature is an important and integral part of mankind. It is one of the greatest blessings for human life; however, now-a-days humans fail to recognize it as one. Nature has been an inspiration for poets, writers, artists and many more. This remarkable creation inspired them to write poems and stories in the glory of it. They truly valued nature which reflects in their works even today. [Essentially, nature is everything we are surrounded by like the water we drink, the air we breathe, the birds we hear chirping, the sun we soak ~~in~~ in, the moon we gaze at and many more. Therefore people of modern age should learn something from the past and start valuing nature before it gets too late. Nature has been in existence long before humans and ever it has taken care of mankind and nourished it forever. In other words, it offers us a protective layer which guards us against all kinds of damages and harms. Survival of mankind without nature ~~is~~ is impossible.
