

Q Birds are winged creatures.

An ostrich cannot fly in spite of having wings. why?

Ans Unlike most birds their flat breast bones lack the keel that anchors the strong pectoral muscles required for flight. Ostrich have very wings can't possibly lift their heavy bodies off the ground.