Nuclear Family

(By: Ansuman Kari)

"Being part of a family means smiling for photos".
By this extremely lovable quote by Harry Morgan, I would like to start the brief ~~description~~ description of the world's most favourite and lovable compound i.e 'a Family'.

In real life, we have ~~two~~ ^{five} types of family, nuclear family, extended family, single parent family, and ~~a~~ childless family. All the families are ~~most~~ lovable but the most peaceful and lovely family in life is Nuclear Family. This family mainly consists of a lovely couple with atleast 1 or 2 dependent children. We can call it as an elementary family. According to observations from the whole world, a nuclear family (among itself) is the most happiest family than others. Because it is something like your own happiness of no limits. For example, if we are very rich and have millions of money, expensive cars and all. But after sometime these will feel like burden as we are not grown in these. ~~and~~ We might be happy from outside but in our heart we can feel that our soul wants to live a normal life. This concludes the more number of family members the more tension and also sometimes cause misunderstandings.

In today's generation, a nuclear family ~~is~~ gives more happiness and peace than a joint family. Sometimes nuclear family can also be worst but mostly it is joyful. It becomes worst because of some slight misunderstandings, or getting busy in other world. But still I and all can conclude that having a family is heaven ~~but~~ but a small family leads to a peaceful and lovely heaven.

Thank you.
