

How

Narrate Shanker's meeting with the lion.

In the station office, Shanker had lit a lamp and was writing his diary and he also planned to sleep there. The glass paneled door was closed but not bolted. Suddenly a small whisp like sound made Shanker look towards the ~~window~~ pane and what he saw made him freeze there ^{door} on the chair. There was a huge lion with its muzzle visible on the glass. Shanker knew that a gentle push would open the door ~~and~~ as well as he was unarmmed. Shanker was sitting on his chair like a statue without any movement or expression.

The lion with his curious expression stood there silently looking at shankar and the lamp. ~~At~~ For short time and went away as if disinterested what he saw.
