

How

Narrate Shanker's meeting with the snake.

One night Shanker was sleeping ~~which~~. His sixth sense has disturbed his sleep by warning him that he was in grave danger. He woke up and felt that his whole body was trembling with a faint noise in the room.

Suddenly, his groping hand found the torch and immediately he flashed it on. Now with the flash, Shanker was filled with fear and awe as he had seen the Africa's meanest and fearsome snake, the black mamba. Shanker stood still without any movement holding the torch. His hands were increasingly becoming numb with pain. After he lost all his sensation, he moved his hands for relief. But there was no snake in front of him. He took the chance, ran out and locked the door from outside.
