

Q. Early on winter morning we see drops of water on parked cars & plants? Why?

A. Early on winter morning we see drops of water on parked cars and plants this is because of condensation during the night when the hot air comes into contact with some cold surface water vapors present in it condenses in the form of droplets. These tiny drops are called dew drops.