

Q6. How do you think a mountain can influence a country's climate?

A- Mountains affect climate by blocking wind, receiving more rainfall than low-lying areas.

As air is forced over higher ground,

it causes moisture to condense and fall as rain.