

→ How can people take care of the sacred river Ganga?

Ans- The Ganga is a sacred river to Hindus along every fragment of its length the Ganges is the embodiment of all sacred water in Hindu mythology. Across 1560 miles across Northern India from the Himalaya Mountains to the Indian Ocean, the Ganga river is not a sacred place it is a sacred entity known as Ganga Ma or Mother Ganga. We all people awareness itself sewerage treatment infrastructure, river front development, river surface cleaning and public awareness.