

The rabbit and the tortoise.

Tired of the bragging of a speedy rabbit, a tortoise challenges to a race. The over-confident rabbit accepts the competition and runs as fast as it can after the race begins. Soon it gets tired and decides to rest, thinking that there's plenty of time to relax before tortoise can catch up with it. Meanwhile, the tortoise continues to walk slowly, until it reaches the finish line. Meanwhile, the tortoise continues to walk slowly, until it reaches the finish line. The overslept rabbit wakes up, only to be surprised that a slow moving tortoise beat in the race.