

A Bicycle Built for two

Got Going - A

1. The eel was determined to ride on a wheel, but he could not do it because when he sat on the saddle to ride, his tail could only pedal one side.
2. His neighbour, who was also an eel, said that they could wrap a belt around both their waists and fasten it with a strap. In this manner, each eel could pedal one side of the bicycle.
3. eel-wheel, might-right, fun-done, ride-side

B. 1. 'That two heads are better than one' means that when two people work together to solve a problem, they are more likely to find a solution, than when one person works alone.

2. His neighbour, observing the fun, said, "I think that the thing can be done."

Ans: In these lines 'the fun' refers to the neighbour's observation of the ambitious young eel failing over while attempting to ride the bicycle. 'The thing' refers to the act of riding a bicycle successfully.
