

More people live in the south than in north of Greenland than in north. Why do you think this is so?

Ans) The Arctic circle passes through the southern part of Greenland, therefore most of the part of Greenland lies in the Frigid zone in the Northern Hemisphere, that's why most of the people live in the South of Greenland than the North.

Why icebergs are dangerous for ships?

Ans) Eight percent of Greenland is always covered with ice. Icebergs are lighter than water, that's why it floats on water, the and 90 percent of icebergs remains under water, only 10 percent can be seen, that it becomes difficult for a captain of a sea how large can the iceberg can be. That's why they are icebergs are dangerous for ships.
