

H.W

i) The eye ball becomes too small along its axis. So that the distance between eye lens and the retina is reduced.

ii) The focal length becomes too large resulting in the low converging power.

2. The far point of visual perception is the farthest point.

• The near point is the nearest point within the eye's accommodation.

3. Removing the clouded lens & replacing it with a clear crystal one.