

H.W
03/11/2021

Physics homework

A form of energy that affects our eyes to produce the sensation of vision is called light energy. Luminous things produce their own light and heat while non-luminous things reflect the light of luminous.