

Q- Write a paragraph on Desiree.

A- Desiree is a foundling raised by Monsieur and Madame Valmonde. By nature, she is a gentle, loving person well-suited to be a wife and a mother. She adores her husband and takes pride in her child. When Armand suggests that she's African American, however, Desiree appears to suffer a kind of breakdown. Rather than living with the shame of being labeled black, she takes the child and walks off to bayou, never to return.
