

QW
27.02.2021

1. The condition of the atmosphere at a particular place and time is called weather.

2. The rays of the sun fall ~~directly~~ vertically on land near the equator, but are slanting near the poles.

3. The heat zone farthest from the equator is the Torrid zone.

(4) The heat zone farthest from equator is the Polar zone.

(5) The heat zone which enjoys mild climate is the temperate zone.

(6) When we go up in the mountains, we feel colder (warmer, colder)

B. 1. Climate changes from day to day. False

2. The air in deserts has low humidity. True

3. During the summer months, days are longer. True

the equator than far away from it.

F

4. Most places in a temperate zone have a mild climate. T

5. The climate near the equator is hot and wet. T

6. M.C.Q

1. The climate is affected by

d. all of these

2. Which of these zones receive maximum heat from the sun?

a. tropical zone

3. A city is expected to have a moderate climate

if it is

~~d. near~~ b. near the sea

4. If a latitude of a place is 30°N , it lies in the

5. North temperate zone

5. A city lies on the equator. It is located in the plains, far away from the coast. Its climate is expected to be

a. hot throughout the year