

A)-1) When children are not watching television, they climb out of windows, fight, kick and punch, and disturb their parents.

2) Watching television causes the child's brain to become as soft as cheese; it kills their imagination and takes away their power of thinking.

3) According to the speaker, books are a better source of entertainment than television.

4) The speaker asks parents to throw away TV and buy a bookshelf.

5) The children will give their parents dirty looks, scream and yell, bite and kick and hit them with sticks when the TV is thrown away.

B.1) The speaker is addressing parent who allow their children to sit in front of television.

2) Most parents prefer their children who allow their children to sit in front of television.

3) No, they didn't find eyeballs on the floor. The speaker is exaggerating to emphasize the negative effects of television on children.

4) Animals stories, adventure stories, fantasy stories

C.1) Yes, the speaker had correctly described the disadvantages of television. He has observed the behaviour of children who are addicted to watching television and has come to the conclusion that watching television for entertainment is harmful and impacts psychological development.

4.) Reading helps us think and imagine and thus sharpens our intellect, whereas watching television makes us lazy and restricts our capacity to think. We can relate to the stories that read by imagining the characters and situations. Television provides everything is visual form and prevents us from imaginary. Therefore, I think reading is more beneficial than watching television.