

Home Assignment

HELPING THE NEW GIRL

A girl was new to school and she was physically handicapped and no one wanted to be friends with her because she had only one hand to write. The writer was asked to show the classes and school to her. The writer first hesitated but later due to a kind and good behaviour of new girl she became friends with her. A good friend you would say. They share everything by writing letters. The physical difference between the new girl and the writer never