and younger was made between us.

But just about the time I am speaking up, I began to realize that I was no companion for him, either in age, in interests, or in ability. It even seemed to me that Valodya himself was aware of his superiority and was proud of it.

This idea was inspired by my vanity which suffered every time I came in contact with him. He was better than me in everything; at lessons, in arguments and in manners, and all this took me farther from him and caused me moral anguish which I could not understand. When Valodys was given a tucked linen shirt for the first time, I was unhappy for not having a shirt like that. I am sure, I would have felt happier if I was convinced that everytime he arranged his collar it was not done, to annoy him. What tormented me most was that it sometimes seemed to me, Valodya understood what was going on inside me, but tried to hide it. But perhaps my sensitiveness and tendency to analyse deceived me in this case. It may be, Valodya did not feel at all as I did. He was impulsive and his enthusiasm in different hobbies did not last long. He would suddenly develop a passion for pictures, himself take up painting, spend all his money buying them and beg them

The change of Office

We have noticed some problems in the place the Municipal Corporation is builded. There are many problems observed by us. Some of the problems are the building is no more strong, the soil is not so fertile to plant trees, the pipelines are broken in some parts and water is moving out of the pipes because of that so much smell is coming out and the air conditioners are not giving so much of cold air and many more. So it is decided by us to change the office to the newly-constructed building. So, please cooperate with us.

The Clever Cap Seller

Once upon a time, there lived a cap seller who travels from village to village to sell his caps. One day, in afternoon when he was going to a village he felt very tired and decided to sleep under a tree. After eating and drinking something he sleep under that tree. While he was sleeping some monkey that lived in that tree, take his all caps and wore it. When he woke up he saw that there are no caps and got to know that the monkeys have stolen his caps. Then he tried many things to get the caps from the monkeys but he couldn't do that. By hard, he got a idea that he understood that what he is doing the monkeys are doing the same things. Important
