

Q- "Caste system is very much inherent in politics," Justify.

Ans Caste system is a very important aspect of politics -

(i) Selection of candidates in politics when parties choose a candidate in election, they keep in mind the caste composition of the electorate & nominate candidates from different caste so as to muster necessary support to win.

* Political parties as the representative of the castes:-

Political parties & candidates in elections makes appeals to caste sentiment to must support

* Caste influences the Universal Adult Franchise:-

* Various caste groups are required to enter into a coalition with other castes & enter into negotiation.

⊙ thus, the focus on caste in political can sometimes given an impression that elections are all about caste & nothing else.