

Even on a very hot day people in coastal areas do not feel very hot because during hot day the land absorbs the heat much faster than the sea and the cool air from the sea rush towards the land.