

(e)

one tree

three trees

4. Colour the odd one out. One is done for you.

- | | | | | |
|-----|--|-------------------------------|---|---|
| (a) | <input type="radio"/> dog | <input type="radio"/> books | <input type="radio"/> ants | <input type="radio"/> cows |
| (b) | <input type="radio"/> roses | <input type="radio"/> pens | <input checked="" type="radio"/> cat | <input type="radio"/> eyes |
| (c) | <input checked="" type="radio"/> chair | <input type="radio"/> lamps | <input type="radio"/> girls | <input type="radio"/> parks |
| (d) | <input type="radio"/> spoons | <input type="radio"/> pigeons | <input type="radio"/> dolls | <input checked="" type="radio"/> pencil |
| (e) | <input type="radio"/> egg | <input type="radio"/> tree | <input checked="" type="radio"/> fruits | <input type="radio"/> apple |

Recap

- Singular naming words talk about only one person, animal, place or object. For example, boy, cat, room, bottle, etc.
- Plural naming words talk about more than one person, animal, place or object. For example, boys, cats, rooms, bottles, etc.