

(3)

Ans The advantages of transpiration to green plants are -

Cooling effect - The water keeps on evaporation from the leaf surface decreasing transpiration. This helps the plant to cool itself when it is not outside.

Transpirational pull - As water continuously evaporates from the leaf surface the roots pull up more water from the soil. These materials help the plants to grow.