

- Some said that the poet's mother's sins which she committed in her previous birth have been forgiven.
- The others assumed that she is going to die and said the pain she is suffering will decrease the troubles in her next birth.
- Some others put forward that her good deeds will be balanced against her bad deeds because of the bite of the scorpion.