

A balance in nature must be maintained for life on earth to go on.