Sol: The glowing sun, the bright sky, all the nature wonders, Tall and green trees, ~~the~~ Ground full of fallen leaves, Apples falling one by one and some hanging on the tree. Everything that you could have wished for. Fully a dream. The boy saw off his mother. He couldn't believe he was actually in a jungle at last. Even his friends couldn't believe it except only one girl who looked depressed all the way long. She had bought a square-shaped bag. It looked empty but who knows she may be carrying a mystery in her bag. They all went, sometimes seeing a rabbit and sometimes a squirrel, But they never saw a big animal. ~~At night. The set up a tent~~ At night, they set up many tents together and lit up a fire in the middle where they cooked their food. They ate to their heart's content and slept. The boy ~~whereas~~ couldn't sleep at all. He tried closing his eyes for a long time and counting sheep but nothing worked just for him. So, he went outside and sat in front of the fire just when he heard a sound. He returned back to his tent and saw the girl take out a knife from her bag. The only surprise was that she used that knife to cut an apple not to kill somebody. But the boy was surprised as why would someone carry a knife in their bag while in a jungle tour. He came out of the tent and talked to her for a while. Suddenly, he felt something itchy and exiled himself into the tent. As soon as he went inside, he saw himself in the mirror. He froze. In the morning, during their attendances, everyone was marked present except the boy. The teacher checked the previous day's attendance and saw that he was marked present.

They looked for him everywhere but there were only snakes, frogs, birds and other animals there but the one and only tiger caught everyone's eye. The tiger was wearing a tie. Telling everyone that someone might have made the tiger wear it, the teachers proceeded ignoring the fact that the tie must also have a mystery of its own. ~~Everyone succeeded~~
Everyone walked back from the tiger except that girl. She walked towards the tiger, without hesitating she took the tie out of the neck of the tiger but the tiger was silent all along. The moment she took out the tie, he looked confused and the girl went away. She handed it to her teachers thinking that she might find a clue. But all went in vain when the teacher threw the tie away. Then, ignoring it, she proceeded. The Tiger came running towards them and handed a paper to the teachers where it was roughly pictured the image of the boy but it was blurry. To their astonishment there was a blurry paper on the ground by ~~the~~ which ~~is~~ help, they saw it. They took it and the tie as an evidence.
