Dear Roshni,

I ~~was~~ delighted to receive your affectionate letter yesterday. You were very anxious to know about my ~~plan~~ activities which I have planned during Autumn Vacation.

These holidays are quite different from those normal holidays, since our exams are close. Hence, I have decided to revise my lessons during these holidays. I have also made a timetable, regarding this. But, we have also planned to ~~g~~ have some fun. We are going to have a visit to Puri. There we will visit the famous Jagannath Temple and Sea ~~to~~ beach. We will also visit other famous spots in Puri. These are my plans regarding this autumn vacation.

I am also very anxious to know about your plans. Convey my regards to your parents, Reply soon.

Yours lovingly,
Anuradha

Manju

Manju is a young girl, 12 years of age. She just entered class VIII. She lives with her mother who calls her Ju (so does everyone else do). Ju's father had been killed in a tragic accident. Her mother works as a domestic help and is the sole provider for her small family. Her mother brings her hand-me-downs from the homes in which she works and Ju welcomes them as new friends. She is mostly seen in clothes given away as hand-me-downs. Often there are size problems with the odd dresses, skirts and blouses, which are then altered to Ju's size but Ali Ju never saw the gifts that she received as being old because they were entering her life for the first time. Therefore, as far as she was concerned, they were brand new. She especially loves the well-used textbooks, and the treasures sometimes hidden among their pages; fresh flowers, poems and sometimes even a dead butterfly. Ju is a very practical and sensible girl.

Hamid shows his intelligence at two places in the story. When he bargains with the shopkeeper, he buys a pair of tongs with three paise and when he outwits other children in defending his choice of buying a pair of tongs. He bought a pair of tongs for his granny Ameen a ~~and sacrificed~~ to prevent her hand from burning. He is a thoughtful great boy.

3) William tests the newly painted gate of the house by leaning against it. William was resting in the van instead of moving out of the way when the others were trying to load the furniture. Even though the story is titled William the Helper, in reality he was more of a troublemaker, increasing the work of his members and the movers in him attempt to help them. The title is sarcastic and funny. His help does more damage, the help and his family is tired of his help.
