

Banyan Tree

The National tree of India is designated "banyan tree". This tree is extremely extensive. This tree is an extremely high and exceptionally enormous tree spreading tree. The stature of this tree goes from about 20m to 30m. This tree is vital in Hinduism. Similarly, as individual love the peepal and neem tree, correspondingly the banyan trees are likewise revered. The banyan tree is viewed as equivalent to Brahma. Numerous ladies of the Hindu religion love the banyan tree for their better half, which is classified as "Tauk Savitri Puja".